PURIFYING WATER

SYSTEM OF CHEMICAL PURIFICATION BEING USED.

SAME SYSTEM AS ST. LOUIS

It is Said to Destroy Germs and Clarify the Water and Has Met With Approval of Chemists.

Chemicals are being used by Manager Roseberry of the city water company in purifying the water, being the same chemicals that are being used at the water plants in St. Louis, and a number of other towns in this state, and other states. It makes the city water absolutely pure and much more so than well water, so chemists say.

The system of using chemicals here was put in by L. W. Owen of the water purification department of the American Wire and Steel company of Chicago. He has had charge of this work for a large number of water plants over the country and was also at St. Louis when the chemicals were first used there. St. Louis has used their system since 1903 and all are well satisfied.

Mr. Owen says that with the use of the chemicals that the water can be purified as shown in every instance where they are being used.

Sulphate of iron is one of the chemicals used in the purification of the water. It is only necessary to use 1 grain to one gallon of water. Then hydrate of lime is another one, using one and a half grains to a gallon of water, and then hypo chloride of lime is also used. When the river is up and the water is muddy as is often the case here, these chemicals will make the water clear.

Manager Roseberry flushed the mains last week before the system was installed and will flush them again next week, and by that time, good, clear, pure water will be had for their customers.

Mr. Owen thinks that there is nothing like this system which makes the river water much purer than any well water.

SUBMITTED THE CASE.

The Conway Case Presented to Judge Davis at Gallatin—To Be Argued Later On.

Sawyers for the plaintiff, returned Wednesday morning from Gallatin, as did also Hubert Conway and Mrs. Julia Conway.

Mr. Taylor's son, W. D. Taylor, who has been in an Arkansas hospital for several weeks, was able to attend the funeral of his brother which took place last Sunday. W. D. Taylor had his lower limb injured several weeks ago while traveling from New York City with poultry. His limb has bothered him since and he goes to New York City soon for further treatment. It is thought he will fully recover the use of his limb.

ALUMNI ELECTED OFFICERS

Professor Malotte Heads Association—Annual Banquet of Normal Graduates Held Tuesday Night

President, A. E. Malotte, Maryville.
Vice-President, H. H. Mutz, Maryville.
Treasurer, Lois Halley, Maryville.
Secretary, Bessie Cox, Maryville.

The above officers were elected at the business meeting which followed the Normal Alumni banquet in the parlors of the First M. E. church Tuesday night. A. E. Malotte, who succeeds John Rush as president of the association, has been superintendent of the Kingston public schools for the past three years and has been elected for the coming year. A committee on resolutions and one to take charge of the publication of the Annual were appointed by the president.

The banquet was indeed a success. J. Adams Puffer, the commencement speaker, was present and responded to a toast. President Taylor, Dean Geo. H. Colbert, Prof. H. H. Hankins, L. M. Eek and a number of the alumni also gave short addresses. Those present were:

President Taylor, Dean Colbert, Dr. J. Adams Puffer, John Rush, Katherine Helwig, Miss Carrie Hopkins, Prof. Ira Richardson, Prof. L. M. Eek, Prof. C. E. Wells, Miss Helen Leffler, Misses Winifred and Dora Carpenter, Prof. Malotte, Miss Donna Sisson, Miss Harriet Day, Miss Lottie Perrin, Prof. E. L. Harrington, Prof. Hankins, Miss Lois Halley, Miss Emma Lee Taylor, James Carpenter, Miss Dora Day, Miss Nellie Wray, Misses Mary and Alice Orcutt, Miss Jessie Mutz and her guest, Miss Vera Watson of Harbine, Nebr., Homer Neff, Harry Mutz, Miss Phyllis Sayler, Miss Mary Ogden, Miss Nell Hudson, Raymond Watson and Miss Bessie Cox.

For Lieutenant Governor.

Hon. W. R. Painter of Carrollton, has filed for the office of lieutenant governor of Missouri with the secretary of state. There is no doubt in our mind but that Will Painter was elected to this office four years ago, but rather than embarrass his party with a contest which would prevent legislative work until settled, he let his opponent have an office to which he was not entitled. We think Mr. Painter is entitled to the nomination for this reason alone, and for the reason that he has superior qualifications for the office, he is editor of a Democratic newspaper, is a progressive Democrat, and we hope he will be nominated and elected in November by such a majority that there can be no possibility of a contest again.

On Visit to Relatives.

Mrs. J. F. Brown and little daughter, Fredda Josephine, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hastings, went to McFall Wednesday to visit Mr. Brown's sister, Mrs. Walter Basket, and they will go to Pattonsburg to visit another sister of Mr. Brown, Mrs. Geo. Groomer before returning home.

BEST ADDRESS MADE

HIGH COMPLIMENT FOR DR. PUFFER FROM PRESIDENT BLAGG.

HAVE SPIRIT OF FAITH

The Way to Make a Boy Truthful is to Trust Him—Eleven Members of Class Received Diplomas.

When W. A. Blagg in a brief presentation address following the Class address at the Normal this morning, asserted that Dr. Puffer's address was the best commencement address to which he had ever listened, he voiced the sentiment of the large audience that attended the exercises.

Dr. Puffer, who has had a wide experience in the boy life and particularly in the life of the boy of the industrial school of which he was the head, gave of the results of his observations concerning the intellect, will, disposition and morals of the youths with whom he had come into contact. The speaker has learned from actual experience that the way to handle the youth is to look after his physical life. "The reason more girls finish school than boys is due to the fact that the school is better adapted to the girls' temperament" asserted the Doctor. Regarding the youth's attitude toward standing up for his own rights, the speaker suggested the following rule which if adhered to is liable at some time in the boy's life to result in a fistic encounter: "Never allow another boy to walk on the same piece of ground that you are on, at the same time."

In speaking of generosity Dr. Puffer says the boy who shares his only apple with his chums when he feels that he could eat a dozen just such apples with ease is a thousand times more generous that the "philanthrophist" who distributes library funds after having become rich from the money which rightfully belonged to other people.

"The best way to make the boy truthful, and by thuthfulness I mean the chap who usually tells the truth, is to trust him. Have that spirit of faith!"

Dr. Puffer's address was all the more appropriate in that so many of the phases of his talk were exactly in the line of the work of the teacher.

The address was preceded by some special music by the chorus classes of the school and a brief talk by Prof. A. E. Malotte who spoke in behalf of the graduating class. President Blagg of the Board of Regents, made the presentation address and the morning exercises closed with a number by the Normal Male Quartet. The following graduates received their diplomas: Egbert Jennings, Angie Johnson, Cora Gehr, Jeanette Cottrill, Ross B. Wayne, Goldie Carmichael, Theodosia Kreutz, Jessie Mingus, Jessie Mutz, Mabel Miller and Bess Rowlett.

Since 1906, thirty-nine in Nodaway county have become naturalized.

OPENED SWITCHES

CRAZY MAN ARRESTED BY SHERIFF TILSON THIS MORNING

ESCAPED LINCOLN ASYLUM

Burlington and Wabash Switches Thrown Open, Discovered in Time—Cudprit is in County Jail.

John Rogers, who claims that his home is in Louisiana, was arrested Wednesday afternoon. He had displayed signs of being mentally unbalanced. He had been in the city only a day.

In the Wabash yards this morning he turned the switches but his act was luckily discovered before any trains came, by Agent Ed Ferritor, who telephoned to Sheriff Tilson and Marshals Moberly and Tilson responded at once.

Rogers after leaving the Wabash depot, went down the track and was followed by Sheriff Tilson. Mr. Tilson caught him in the Burlington yards after he had turned a switch in that yard. As Tilson approached him Rogers said "let the train in."

When the sheriff told him that he was going to take him back to the city, Rogers showed signs of fighting, but by that time Marshal Moberly and Bert Mack arrived on the scene and he was brought up town to the jail without any trouble.

Upon being questioned by Sheriff Tilson the man said he had escaped from the asylum at Lincoln, Neb. Sheriff Tilson has wired the authorities there, but up to press time Wednesday afternoon he had received no advice from Lincoln.

DON'T USE CARRIAGE PAINT

High School Boys Say Not To Use That Kind of Black Paint.

Here's a straight tip: If you are applying paint to a brick wall only temporarily, don't, for goodness sake, use black carriage paint. A committee of five young men, members of the high school graduating class after spending most of Tuesday afternoon and part of Tuesday night in eradicating "Seniors, 1912" from the front firewall of the Washington school building, drew up the above warning. But the boys removed the "superfluous decoration from the temple of learning" and there is now nothing in the way of their receiving the coveted sheepskins on Friday night.

GEO. VINSONHALER DEAD

Former Resident of County, Well Known Here, Died at Little Rock, Ark., Tuesday Night.

Word was received in Maryville Wednesday morning by N. B. Lamar from Dr. Frank Vinsonhaler of Little Rock, Ark., stating that his father, George Vinsonhaler had died at his home on Tuesday night and that interment would take place at Graham on Thursday morning beside the body of his mother, who died about thirty years ago.

Mr. Vinsonhaler was formerly a resident of Nodaway county and Maryville. He left Maryville over two years ago for Little Rock, Ark., where he has since resided with his son.

He was born in Ross county, Ohio, January 14, 1821, accompanied his parents west and settled near Graham in the fall of 1841. During the war he served in the Enrolled Missouri Militia although not subject to military duty.

Mr. Vinsonhaler was married November 3, 1853 to Miss Sarah Rea at the Indian Mission in Kansas, where she had been teaching. Eight children were born of this union, four of whom are living as follows: Judge Edwin Vinsonhaler of Seattle, Wash., Dr. Frank Vinsonhaler of Omaha, [illegible] Judge Duncan N. Vinsonhaler of Omaha, and Harry Vinsonhaler of St. Louis. Mrs. Vinsonhaler died September 20, 1880.

Mr. Vinsonhaler was married again about twenty-seven years ago to Miss Hattie Patterson. Her death occurred in Maryville January, 1910. After her death, Mr. Vinsonhaler moved to Little Rock, Ark.

Mr. Vinsonhaler was one of the early pioneers of the county.

INSTALLING TELEPHONES.

Wabash Railroad Putting in New Equipment for Use of Train Dispatchers.

As a part of the improvement program, the Wabash is engaging in constructing telephone lines consisting of a circuit of two heavy copper wires over the main lines, with apparatus so perfect that the tick of a watch can be heard from station to station.

The usefulness of the telephone in place of the telegraph as a means of communication between stations and for dispatching trains has been thoroughly demonstrated, and the telephone is used exclusively and successfully for such service on many busy main lines; in fact, it has been adopted as standard practice on about 50 per cent of the entire railway mileage of the United States.

Its advantages are:

1. The train dispatcher can handle his work more easily and expeditiously by reason of the quickness with which communication may be passed, he can keep up his train sheet and the instruments are so arranged that he has both hands free for employment, which it not possible with a telegraph instrument. Many times, when necessary, the train dispatcher talks direct with conductors and engineers on the road and is thus able to secure more accurate and quick knowledge of details in every day practice, as well as in emergency.

2. The telephone wire works much better in wet and foggy weather than does the telegraph. Even during storm prostrations, it will work on the ground, if unbroken, while it is well known that the telegraph circuit stops instantly, when grounded. The telephone also works better where inductive disturbances from trolley lines and high tension power circuits seriously interfere with the operation of the telegraph.

3. Telephones are located in boxes at places along the line where train and enginemen can stop and communicate with the train dispatcher about their movements, or furnish information quickly from non-telegraph points as a telephone can be used by anyone and does not require skilled technical knowledge.

Summarized in a few words, the advantages of the use of the telephone for dispatching and other division work, are that it is quicker, more safe, more reliable, more flexible, and makes possible better discipline and co-operation between the dispatcher and operators, as well as providing means of official communication, thus enabling accurate information to be obtained promptly in case of emergency; consequently, closer supervision is possible.

AN EXPERIMENT STATION.

The Kitchen Is Situated Midway Between the Cradle and Grave.

The kitchen is an experiment station for young wives, and is situated midway between the cradle and the grave. It is used for producing food, but is sometimes connected up by mistake with several varities of pole-vaulting stomachache, writes Howard L. Rann.

The kitchen used to be a popular place of resort for women who were married to an appetite which never said die or diet, but nowadays the only articles of furniture to be found in the kitchen are a steel range with the asthma, a portable pantry made out of soap premiums, and a hired girl, armed with the deadly sponge cake. Very few housewives loiter around the kitchen to any extent these days.

Some of our best known society women don't know which end of the house the kitchen is in, and seldom enter it except to chasten a chambermaid who wants to eat at the table. Kitchens are usually located next to the dining room, so as to enable the languorous breath of the boiled cabbage to flit from guest to guest and creep up the back stairs into the spare bedroom.

Entrance to the kitchen is ordinarily made through a swing door, which destroys several thousand perfectly good teeth fillings every year. This accursed device should give way to the department store turnstile, through which the serving girl can chase a soup tureen without being jolted into the china closet.

Every kitchen is equipped with a large quantity of hardware in the form of can openers, egg beaters, coffee percolators and the slowly strangling gasoline stove, which in the agonies of death throws off a very vile and pervasive aroma. The kitchen is not as ornamental as the boudoir, but it is more useful to people who are accustomed to dally with seven-course dinners.

BRYAN TO RUN AGAIN?

The Old Rumor Revived and Strengthened by Statement from Wilson Camp.

"Should it be found after two or three ballots that Governor Wilson will not be able to land the Democratic nomination for President, his entire strength will be thrown to W. J. Bryan." This statement came directly from the Wilson headquarters at Washington, says the Kansas City Times. It is another evidence that Bryan is in reality a candidate for the nomination and that he expects to start the Wilson delegation his way when the proper time comes.

"If it comes to a point when it is very apparent that Wilson cannot land and his delegates are given to the Nebraskan, it will be a very serious thing for the Clark boom. Everybody recognizes the fact that Clark will not be able to hold a considerable number of his delegates with Bryan before the convention. It is doubtful that he can hold his entire Missouri strength, for there are men from Missouri who have been Bryan devotees for years, and the leash must be mighty strong to keep them away from the Bryan stampede.

"Outside of the Wilson delegates Bryan is apt to draw from nearly every state in the convention unless the unit rule is adhered to. The surprise to everyone is the amount of Bryan talk that keeps floating into Washington. It comes from all sections of the country. This does not mean that other candidates' delegates are deserting the man for whom they are instructed, but it shows that the Bryan sentiment is much stronger than that for any other single candidate."

Charivari Party Near Pickering.

On Monday night, the 19th, a very noisy and happy charivari party gathered at the home of Mr. Vern Fakes, the well-known horse and mule buyer living four and one-half miles northwest of Pickering. Mr. Fakes and his bride, who was Miss Nannie Ringgold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ringgold, and a well-known and accomplished music teacher of the Pickering vicinity, were married at 8 o'clock on the evening of the 18th, at the Christian Church parsonage, going immediately to their home. It was an old fashioned charivari party, all the forces of the lusty voices of the charivariers, old guns and cans being combined to attract the attention of the bride and groom. They were invited into the house by Mr. Fakes after awhile and treated very generously. After extending congratulations to the groom and happy wishes to the bride for a long and happy life, all departed for their homes. INVESTIGATING FULTON ASYLUM

Grand Jury Examines Many Witnesses in Scandal Probe.

REASON FOR INQUIRY A SECRET

Resignations From Institution Have Been so Frequent That But Two Physicians Now Remain—Information Withheld.

Fulton, Mo., May 22.—Five persons connected with the Fulton state hospital for insane, including the superintendent, Dr. George Williams, were witnesses before the Callaway county grand jury during the afternoon. The first two were R. W. Thompson and Walter Pyles, who, Dr. Williams admitted to a press representative had been detailed by him to watch the actions of Dr. R. S. Magee, the first member of the medical staff of the institution to resign. The other two were Mrs. Annie Smith, supervisor of the women's ward of the hospital, and Mrs. Millie Maupin, an attendant in one of the wards.

The examination before the grand jury is being conducted by J. R. Baker, presecuting attorney of Callaway county, who has declared his intention of making a thorough investigation of the scandal, which is supposed to exist in the institution.

To be "Cleaned Out."

In an interview Superintendent Williams said:

"I intend to have the institution cleaned out if it is possible."

He would not indicate, however, what there is that should be cleaned out. Asked the direct question: "Did not the resignation of Dr. Magee come suddenly after an interview with you, in which you confronted him with evidence secured for you by Thompson and Pyles?" Dr. Williams answered affirmatively. To the question, "Did you prefer charges against him to the board of managers?" he said "No." He told the board what had happened and put the whole matter up to them, he said.

Dr. Williams was even more reticent about the resignation of Dr. Wiseman. He would not answer the question whether charges had been preferred against Wiseman, saying that R. M. White of Mexico, president of the board of managers, would have to give out information on the subject.

Wiseman Consults Governor.

Dr. Wiseman spent Friday in Jefferson City in conference with Gov. Hadley, and Saturday in Macon with Dr. E. B. Clements, a member of the board of managers of the hospital. He returned to Fulton Sunday morning and left Monday for Maywood, Lewis county, his former home.

Resignations have been frequent within the last eight weeks among minor employes of the hospital. Besides William Hicks, the supervisor of the men's wards, who quit May 9, three of the boiler room force and several attendants have valuntarily given up their jobs. The only physicians at the hospital now are the superintendent and Dr. D. E. Singleton, the latter a member of the medical staff. Singleton's name has not been mentioned in the gossip concerning the institution.

BASEBALL STRIKERS ARE FINED

One Hundred Dollars Each the Penalty Assessed Against Men Who Refused to Play.

Philadelphia, May 22.—At a meeting of the presidents of the American league club a fine of $100 was assessed against each man who signed the telegram to the president of the league last week. They were fined $50 for each of the two days they refused to play. Frank J. Navin, president of the club, announced that he had promised the ball players that he would pay their fines if they returned to the ball field and it is understood he will adhere to his promise. The meeting did not censure anyone except the players involved.

Railway Fuel Men Meet.

Chicago, May 22.—The members of the International Railway Fuel association met in the Sherman house this morning for their fourth annual convention, the program being opened by a prayer and the address of the president, T. Goss of the University of Illinois. This evening the visitors will enjoy a dinner and vaudeville.

MADE BIG DEAL ON "PRESTIGE"

STEEL SUIT SHOWS POWER OF MORGAN'S NAME.

Witness Also Shows How Members of Pool "Double Crossed" Each Other.

New York, May 21.—That J. P. Morgan & Co., by the sheer weight of prestige, was able to go into the open market and persuade holders of American Bridge company stock to exchange their holdings for stock in the steel trust was the testimony of Percival Roberts, Jr., in the steel trust dissolution suit.

Roberts formerly was head of the American Bridge company and was a director and member of the executive committee of the trust from the time his company was absorbed until 1902, when he left the company. He went back in 1909, and now is a member of the finance committee and one of the individual defendants in the suit.

Roberts positively swore that there was no secret negotiations when the steel trust got the bridge company. Morgan & Co. "circularized" his stockholders, he said, and arranged to trade the stock and the Morgan firm's prestige was so great that its statement that the trade was a good one was accepted by nearly all of the stockholders.

How the big steel mills operated their pool agreements in keeping up prices was further developed.

Monthly meetings of the pool members were held, the witness said, at which the amount of work each mill might do was allotted. If a company did more than the allotment it was fined $4 a ton at first and later $2, and this was distributed among the companies who had failed to get orders enough.

He then explained that in many instances the pool members "double crossed each other."

ILLINOIS VETERANS IN CAMP

Forty-Sixth Annual Gathering Attended by Unusually Large Number of G. A. R. Men.

Peoria, Ill., May 22.—Old soldiers of the Civil war have come in surprisingly large numbers to attend the forty-sixth annual encampment of the Department of Illinois, Grand Army of the Republic. The Women's Relief Corps, the Sons of Veterans, the Daughters of Veterans and other allied organizations which hold their annual meetings at the same time are represented by so many delegates and friends that the city is full of guests.

Today the committee on credentials and the council of administration have been very busy. An open session of the encampment will be held tonight in the Shriners' temple, where the mayor will welcome the veterans and the allied societies will extend greetings to them. There will also be a campfire at the First Congregational church. Tomorrow will be, as usual, the big day of the encampment, the day of the grand parade. In the reviewing stand will be Commander-in-Chief H. M. Trimble, Department Commander C. C. Duffy, Governor Deneen, Adjutant General Dickson and other prominent officials.

AD MEN MIX WORK AND PLEASURE

Convention at Dallas, Texas Made Lively by Novel Methods of Entertainment.

Dallas, Tex., May 22.—The necessity for absolute truthfulness in advertising was the keynote of the days discussions in the eighth annual convention of the Associated Advertising clubs of America. The demand for high moral and ehtical character in advertising is one of the rapidly developing features of the meeting. There were a large number of addresses on the day's program, the busiest of the convention.

The "ad men" are playing as hard as they are working. Some of the Southern delegations have demonstrated novel methods of advertising at the entertainments. At a "battle royal" the Atlanta delegation plastered its huge streamer upon the back of one of the negro boxers participating in the event.

RAILROAD ISSUES FREAK RULE

Employes Must Wear No Red, Lest it be Mistaken for Stop Signal.

Chicago, May 22.—The fancy red waistcoat, red neckties and all other outer garments of scarlet hue have been forbidden to all employes of one of the Western railroads while they are on duty. The announcement was made to the employes at the close of their days' work by order of the officials of the company.

The order, which was one of several issued to the employes for the betterment of the service, read:

"No employes shall wear red colored outer garments, as they may be mistaken for stop signals."

Sued Kansas Druggist.

Atchison, Kan., May 22.—Alleging that they gave her an overdose of poison in a prescription which they filled for her, Mrs. Luella Daniels of Lawrence, Kan., filed two damage suits in the district court here, asking for a total of $31,000 from Harry and Will Dick, druggists of Lawrence. Harry Dick is president of the Kansas Pharmaceutical Association, which is meeting here this week.

REBELS DRIVEN FROM BORDER

Two Hundred Mexican Troops Routed by 38 Americans.

TRIED TO CROSS BOUNDARY LINE

Wagon Road Held and Serious Complications Prevented by Aggressive Stand of Two Texas Rangers.

Fabens, Tex., May 22.—Troop B fourth cavalry, turned a band of 200 rebel soldiers back across a wagon road that marks the boundary between the United States and Mexico.

The cool judgment of an American army lieutenant and the aggressive stand of two Texas rangers in the face of 200 Mexican rebels advancing on the American boundary line prevented serious complications.

"Death to them," the Mexicans cried, and a shot rang out as they spurred their horses, drew their carbines and charged forward to a wagon road where Lieut. C. A. Dougherty and 35 men of troop B had stationed themselves, their rifles pointed toward Mexico.

Sarcastic Texas Rangers.

C. E. Webster and Charles Moore of the Texas rangers, who have been accompanying the American troops on their patrol, dashed forward.

"If you dare to come across this wagon road we'll arrest your whole army," shouted Webster. Lieut. Dougherty believing he perhaps had miscalculated the boundary line, gave the Mexicans the benefit of the doubt and drew his men back to few yards under cover of sage and mesquite, ordering them under no circumstances to fire until so commanded.

"This wagon road is the line," Webster continued to call in Spanish to advancing rebels who formed into a fighting line. He demanded that they send out their chiefs for parley.

Rebels Apologized.

Col. Jose Cordoba and Col. Charles Bustamanta, in command of the rebels who were moving on Guadalupe, dismounted and across the sandy road the Mexicans declared they mistook the rangers for two men they had been searching for. Lieut. Dougherty came forward and defined what he believed to be the American line.

The rebel leaders turned their troop away and headed eastward toward Guadalupe.

The companies of the eighteenth infantry picketed the border, reenforcing the cavalrymen. Troop B of the fourth cavalry was added to the patrolling forces.

SHERIFF CAPTURED "WILD MAN"

Oklahoma Terror Turns Out to be Business Man, Suffering From Sleeping Sickness.

Oklahoma City, May 22.—H. J. Weisburch, a highly educated German and formerly a successful business man of this city, was sent to an asylum for the insane, a victim of sleeping sickness contracted in South Africa. He returned several months ago, but never was able to shake off the ailment.

After his return to Oklahoma City, Weisburch resumed business as a real estate dealer, but in a short time wandered away into the country. He terrorized farmers' wives and children for several weeks and was known as a wild man. A deputy sheriff captured him and he has just been identified. The officer put him into a motor car and Weisburch started the machine before the officer got in, running it two miles on a country road and stopping only when the engine went dead.

PARIS BONDS WENT IN A HURRY

Forty-One Million Dollar Issue Was Over-Subscribed 80 Times.

Paris, May 22.—The issue of City of Paris bonds to the total of $41,000,000 for the extension of the municipal gas system has been over-subscribed 80 times. This means that the French people have subscribed to the amount $3,280,000,000 and have actually paid in cash in one day $115,000,000, as each subscriber had to deposit $2 for each bond subscribed for. The issue was over-subscribed in Paris alone 70 times. Throughout the day long lines of people formed at the banks and other subscription offices.

THINKS ELECTRIC CHAIR CRUDE

Witness at Richeson Electrocution Suggests Changes in Method of Operation.

Cambridge, Mass., May 22.—Dr. George B. McGrath, medical examiner of Suffolk county, who was one of the witnesses at the Richeson electrocision will recommend several changes in the manner of putting murderers to death. He believes death should be brought on more quickly and without some of the unpleasant features connected with the present method. This could be accomplished, he says, by placing the electrodes over the heart and on the back of the neck instead of on top of the head and on the left leg. He expects that eventually a chair will be devised in which the prisoner will bring about his own death, the functions of his body automatically throwing on the current.

VALUE OF FORESTS PROVED

In Addition to Conserving Rainfall, They Are of Other Aids to Agriculture.

While the rainfall of any region is dependent on dynamic influences in the atmosphere, and can be affected only in a very slight degree, if at all, by the extent of that region covered by forests, it has certainly been shown that woods and forests conserve rainfall. The briefest consideration indicates the likelihood that this must be so, because vegetation and the ground covered with vegetation absorb water and allow it to percolate slowly to the lower levels, whereas on bare ground the rainwater runs quickly away to sea. But trees serve another purpose in aid of agriculture; because, as some recent experiments show, they act as windbreaks and shelters to growing crops. The distance to which the protective influence of trees extends is estimated at twenty times their height, though complete protection, such as might be afforded to growing wheat in a gale, extends only to a distance eight times the height of the trees. Partial protection is about twelve to fourteen times the height. They also check evaporation of rainfall, their influence extending five times their height to windward and eighteen times to leeward, and preserve as much as 70 per cent. of moisture ordinarily lost. Finally, their influence heats both air and soil, increasing the diurnal range of temperature by as much as nine degrees Fahrenheit.

GIVE REALITY TO THE CHILD

Writers of the Nineteenth Century Responsible for Valuable Addition to Literature.

Children were only found yesterday. Before the nineteenth century the child mind and the child heart were not supposed to have enough in them to interest the majestic adult. It is true that you find a delightful baby in Homer; that in Vergil there is the prettiest glimpse of a little girl, and up and down in the classics you may meet half a dozen other pleasant shadows of children. But they are only shadows, only at the most charming pictures. They give you as much as if they were painting or sculpture—for in children's bodies art has always had interest enough—only what a child looks like, the pretty weakness, the instinct for play, the native gesture and movement. Not till the "return to nature," not till the spirit of romance moved on the waters at the end of the eighteenth century, do you find poets beginning to tell of the thought and faith in a child's mind, the mysteries of the child's heart, the fancies that are dreams and the fancies that are visions. You may think that they have gone too far, that they read into childhood the laborious philosophizing and sometimes the labored sentimentality of the adult. But no one who loves children will deny that the best of the children in nineteenth century books have a far richer reality, a far fuller life than any that were born in earlier words. And some of the best are in Dickens.

About the Camel.

In a school in the South of Ireland a schoolboy of tender years is said to have produced the following essay on the camel:

"The cannimal is a sheep of the desert. It is called a backteria because it has a hump on its back. The cannimal is very patient, and will lie down and die without a groan, but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called taking the hump. The shepherds of cannimals is called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the cannimal goes on a journey it drinks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called accquiducks. Those that cannot carry enough are called inebriates."

United Through Literature.

More than one literary man owes a happy marriage to his books. Long before she first met her future husband had Elizabeth Barrett felt herself drawn toward the author of "Bells and Pomegranates," of which she makes the hero of "Lady Geraldine's Courtship" say: "Some Pomegranate of Browning's, which, if cut deep down the middle, shows the heart within blood-tinctured of a veined humanity." Nor was Browning insensible to the charm of the lady's work, so that the inevitable, though delayed, meeting, resulted in a love which, overcoming all obstacles, resulted in the happiest of unions.

History as She's Told.

When Jean Leon Gerome's painting of the dead Caesar was on exhibition in the Corcoran gallery a Chicago visitor heard this conversation between a woman and her ten-year-old son, who were looking at the stricken Caesar lying at the foot of Pompey's statue while the conspirators were disappearing in the distance.

"Mamma," said the boy, "what is the matter with the man?"

"When you get older," answered the mother, "you will read all about it in history. The man is Julius Caesar. He has just been shot by Mark Anthony."

Its Moral.

"The thermometer is much like men in one respect."

"What is that?"

"When it once begins to take a drop, it falls by degrees."

PURIFYING WATER

SYSTEM OF CHEMICAL PURIFICATION BEING USED.

It is Said to Destroy Germs and Clarify the Water and Has Met With Approval of Chemists.

Chemicals are being used by Manager Roseberry of the city water company in purifying the water, being the same chemicals that are being used at the water plants in St. Louis, and a number of other towns in this state, and other states. It makes the city water absolutely pure and much more so than well water, so chemists say.

The system of using chemicals here was put in by L. W. Owen of the water purification department of the American Wire and Steel company of Chicago. He has had charge of this work for a large number of water plants over the country and was also at St. Louis when the chemicals were first used there. St. Louis has used their system since 1903 and all are well satisfied.

Mr. Owen says that with the use of the chemicals that the water can be purified as shown in every instance where they are being used.

Sulphate of iron is one of the chemicals used in the purification of the water. It is only necessary to use 1 grain to one gallon of water. Then hydrate of lime is another one, using one and a half grains to a gallon of water, and then hypo chloride of lime is also used. When the river is up and the water is muddy as is often the case here, these chemicals will make the water clear.

Manager Roseberry flushed the mains last week before the system was installed and will flush them again next week, and by that time, good, clear, pure water will be had for their customers.

Mr. Owen thinks that there is nothing like this system which makes the river water much purer than any well water.

SUBMITTED THE CASE.

The Conway Case Presented to Judge Davis at Gallatin—To Be Argued Later On.

The case of Julia A. Conway against Fred P. Robinson and Mrs. Rebecca Robinson for dower rights was submitted to Judge Arch Davis in Chillicothe Tuesday and will be argued later on. All of the attorneys in the case, F. P. Robinson, Cook, Cummins and Dawson for the defense, and M. E. Ford, Fred Harvey and W. G. Sawyers for the plaintiff, returned Wednesday morning from Gallatin, as did also Hubert Conway and Mrs. Julia Conway.

Returned From Chicago.

Thomas Taylor returned Tuesday night from Chicago where he attended the funeral of his son, Ed Taylor, who died in that city last week. Mrs. Taylor will remain for two weeks and will then go to visit her daughter, Mrs. C. F. Brady at Fort Wayne, Ind., and also at other points. Mrs. Ed Taylor will continue to live in Chicago.

Mr. Taylor's son, W. D. Taylor, who has been in an Arkansas hospital for several weeks, was able to attend the funeral of his brother which took place last Sunday. W. D. Taylor had his lower limb injured several weeks ago while traveling from New York City with poultry. His limb has bothered him since and he goes to New York City soon for further treatment. It is thought he will fully recover the use of his limb.

ALUMNI ELECTED OFFICERS

President, A. E. Malotte, Maryville.
Vice-President, H. H. Mutz, Maryville.
Treasurer, Lois Halley, Maryvile.
Secretary, Bessie Cox, Maryville.

The above officers were elected at the business meeting which followed the Normal Alumni banquet in the parlors of the First M. E. church Tuesday night. A. E. Malotte, who succeeds John Rush as president of the association, has been superintendent of the Kingston public schools for the past three years and has been elected for the coming year. A committee on resolutions and one to take charge of the publication of the Annual were appointed by the president.

The banquet was indeed a success. J. Adams Puffer, the commencement speaker, was present and responded to a toast. President Taylor, Dean Geo. H. Colbert, Prof. H. H. Hankins, L. M. Eek and a number of the alumni also gave short addresses. Those present were:

President Taylor, Dean Colbert, Dr. J. Adams Puffer, John Rush, Katherine Helwig, Miss Carrie Hopkins, Prof. Ira Richardson, Prof. L. M. Eek, Prof. C. E. Wells, Miss Helen Leffler, Misses Winifred and Dora Carpenter, Prof. Malotte, Miss Donna Sisson, Miss Harriet Day, Miss Lottie Perrin, Prof. E. L. Harrington, Prof. Hankins, Miss Lois Halley, Miss Emma Lee Taylor, James Carpenter, Miss Dora Day, Miss Nellie Wray, Misses Mary and Alice Orcutt, Miss Jessie Mutz and her guest, Miss Vera Watson of Harbine, Nebr., Homer Neff, Harry Mutz, Miss Phyllis Sayler, Miss Mary Ogden, Miss Nell Hudson, Raymond Watson and Miss Bessie Cox.

For Lieutenant Governor.

Hon. W. R. Painter of Carrollton, has filed for the office of lieutenant governor of Missouri with the secretary of state. There is no doubt in our mind but that Will Painter was elected to this office four years ago, but rather than embarrass his party with a contest which would prevent legislative work until settled, he let his opponent have an office to which he was not entitled. We think Mr. Painter is entitled to the nomination for this reason alone, and for the reason that he has superior qualifications for the office, he is editor of a Democratic newspaper, is a progressive Democrat, and we hope he will be nominated and elected in November by such a majority that there can be no possibility of a contest again.

On Visit to Relatives.

Mrs. J. F. Brown and little daughter, Fredda Josephine, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hastings, went to McFall Wednesday to visit Mr. Brown's sister, Mrs. Walter Basket, and they will go to Pattonsburg to visit another sister of Mr. Brown, Mrs. Geo. Groomer before returning home.

BEST ADDRESS MADE

HIGH COMPLIMENT FOR DR. PUFFER FROM PRESIDENT BLAGG.

HAVE SPIRIT OF FAITH

The Way to Make a Boy Truthful is to Trust Him—Eleven Members of Class Received Diplomas.

When W. A. Blagg in a brief presentation address following the Class address at the Normal this morning, asserted that Dr. Puffer's address was the best commencement address to which he had ever listened, he voiced the sentiment of the large audience that attended the exercises.

Dr. Puffer, who has had a wide experience in the boy life and particularly in the life of the boy of the industrial school of which he was the head, gave of the results of his observations concerning the intellect, will, disposition and morals of the youths with whom he had come into contact. The speaker has learned from actual experience that the way to handle the youth is to look after his physical life. "The reason more girls finish school than boys is due to the fact that the school is better adapted to the girls' temperament" asserted the Doctor. Regarding the youth's attitude toward standing up for his own rights, the speaker suggested the following rule which if adhered to is liable at some time in the boy's life to result in a fistic encounter: "Never allow another boy to walk on the same piece of ground that you are on, at the same time."

In speaking of generosity Dr. Puffer says the boy who shares his only apple with his chums when he feels that he could eat a dozen just such apples with ease is a thousand times more generous that the "philanthrophist" who distributes library funds after having become rich from the money which rightfully belonged to other people.

"The best way to make the boy truthful, and by thuthfulness I mean the chap who usually tells the truth, is to trust him. Have that spirit of faith!"

Dr. Puffer's address was all the more appropriate in that so many of the phases of his talk were exactly in the line of the work of the teacher.

The address was preceded by some special music by the chorus classes of the school and a brief talk by Prof. A. E. Malotte who spoke in behalf of the graduating class. President Blagg of the Board of Regents, made the presentation address and the morning exercises closed with a number by the Normal Male Quartet. The following graduates received their diplomas: Egbert Jennings, Angie Johnson, Cora Gehr, Jeanette Cottrill, Ross B. Wayne, Goldie Carmichael, Theodosia Kreutz, Jessie Mingus, Jessie Mutz, Mabel Miller and Bess Rowlett.

Since 1906, thirty-nine in Nodaway county have become naturalized.

BOUGHT AN AUTOMOBILE.

W. F. Phares Purchased a 1912 Self Starter Cadillac Car.

Blagg will make the principal address and present the diploma. Members of the white race are particularly invited. Exercises begin at 8:00 p. m.

OPENED SWITCHES

CRAZY MAN ARRESTED BY SHERIFF TILSON THIS MORNING

ESCAPED LINCOLN ASYLUM

Burlington and Wabash Switches Thrown Open, Discovered in Time—Cudprit is in County Jail.

John Rogers, who claims that his home is in Louisiana, was arrested Wednesday afternoon. He had displayed signs of being mentally unbalanced. He had been in the city only a day.

In the Wabash yards this morning he turned the switches but his act was luckily discovered before any trains came, by Agent Ed Ferritor, who telephoned to Sheriff Tilson and Marshals Moberly and Tilson responded at once.

Rogers after leaving the Wabash depot, went down the track and was followed by Sheriff Tilson. Mr. Tilson caught him in the Burlington yards after he had turned a switch in that yard. As Tilson approached him Rogers said "let the train in."

When the sheriff told him that he was going to take him back to the city, Rogers showed signs of fighting, but by that time Marshal Moberly and Bert Mack arrived on the scene and he was brought up town to the jail without any trouble.

Upon being questioned by Sheriff Tilson the man said he had escaped from the asylum at Lincoln, Neb. Sheriff Tilson has wired the authorities there, but up to press time Wednesday afternoon he had received no advice from Lincoln.

DON'T USE CARRIAGE PAINT

High School Boys Say Not To Use That Kind of Black Paint.

Here's a straight tip: If you are applying paint to a brick wall only temporarily, don't, for goodness sake, use black carriage paint. A committee of five young men, members of the high school graduating class after spending most of Tuesday afternoon and part of Tuesday night in eradicating "Seniors, 1912" from the front firewall of the Washington school building, drew up the above warning. But the boys removed the "superfluous decoration from the temple of learning" and there is now nothing in the way of their receiving the coveted sheepskins on Friday night.

On Visit to Pickering.

Mrs. Hinton Davis and her great granddaughter, little Carrie Margaret Dixon, went to Pickering Wednesday for a few days' visit with Mrs. Davis daughter, Mrs. Charles Shopbell, who is Carrie Margaret's grandmother. GEO. VINSONHALER DEAD

Former Resident of County, Well Known Here, Died at Little Rock, Ark., Tuesday Night.

Word was received in Maryville Wednesday morning by N. B. Mr. Vinsonhaler was one of the early pioneers of the county.

INSTALLING TELEPHONES.

Wabash Railroad Putting in New Equipment for Use of Train Dispatchers.

As a part of the improvement program, the Wabash is engaging in constructing telephone lines consisting of a circuit of two heavy copper wires over the main lines, with apparatus so perfect that the tick of a watch can be heard from station to station.

The usefulness of the telephone in place of the telegraph as a means of communication between stations and for dispatching trains has been thoroughly demonstrated, and the telephone is used exclusively and successfully for such service on many busy main lines; in fact, it has been adopted as standard practice on about 50 per cent of the entire railway mileage of the United States.

Its advantages are:

1. The train dispatcher can handle his work more easily and expeditiously by reason of the quickness with which communication may be passed, he can keep up his train sheet and the instruments are so arranged that he has both hands free for employment, which it not possible with a telegraph instrument. Many times, when necessary, the train dispatcher talks direct with conductors and engineers on the road and is thus able to secure more accurate and quick knowledge of details in every day practice, as well as in emergency.

2. The telephone wire works much better in wet and foggy weather than does the telegraph. Even during storm prostrations, it will work on the ground, if unbroken, while it is well known that the telegraph circuit stops instantly, when grounded. The telephone also works better where inductive disturbances from trolley lines and high tension power circuits seriously interfere with the operation of the telegraph.

3. Telephones are located in boxes at places along the line where train and enginemen can stop and communicate with the train dispatcher about their movements, or furnish information quickly from non-telegraph points as a telephone can be used by anyone and does not require skilled technical knowledge.

Summarized in a few words, the advantages of the use of the telephone for dispatching and other division work, are that it is quicker, more safe, more reliable, more flexible, and makes possible better discipline and co-operation between the dispatcher and operators, as well as providing means of official communication, thus enabling accurate information to be obtained promptly in case of emergency; consequently, closer supervision is possible.

AN EXPERIMENT STATION.

The Kitchen Is Situated Midway Between the Cradle and Grave.

The kitchen is an experiment station for young wives, and is situated midway between the cradle and the grave. It is used for producing food, but is sometimes connected up by mistake with several varities of pole-vaulting stomachache, writes Howard L. Rann.

The kitchen used to be a popular place of resort for women who were married to an appetite which never said die or diet, but nowadays the only articles of furniture to be found in the kitchen are a steel range with the asthma, a portable pantry made out of soap premiums, and a hired girl, armed with the deadly sponge cake. Very few housewives loiter around the kitchen to any extent these days.

Some of our best known society women don't know which end of the house the kitchen is in, and seldom enter it except to chasten a chambermaid who wants to eat at the table. Kitchens are usually located next to the dining room, so as to enable the languorous breath of the boiled cabbage to flit from guest to guest and creep up the back stairs into the spare bedroom.

Entrance to the kitchen is ordinarily made through a swing door, which destroys several thousand perfectly good teeth fillings every year. This accursed device should give way to the department store turnstile, through which the serving girl can chase a soup tureen without being jolted into the china closet.

Every kitchen is equipped with a large quantity of hardware in the form of can openers, egg beaters, coffee percolators and the slowly strangling gasoline stove, which in the agonies of death throws off a very vile and pervasive aroma. The kitchen is not as ornamental as the boudoir, but it is more useful to people who are accustomed to daily with seven-course dinners.

BRYAN TO RUN AGAIN?

The Old Rumor Revived and Strengthened by Statement from Wilson Camp.

"Should it be found after two or three ballots that Governor Wilson will not be able to land the Democratic nomination for President, his entire strength will be thrown to W. J. Bryan." This statement came directly from the Wilson headquarters at Washington, says the Kansas City Times. It is another evidence that Bryan is in reality a candidate for the nomination and that he expects to start the Wilson delegation his way when the proper time comes.

"If it comes to a point when it is very apparent that Wilson cannot land and his delegates are given to the Nebraskan, it will be a very serious thing for the Clark boom. Everybody recognizes the fact that Clark will not be able to hold a considerable number of his delegates with Bryan before the convention. It is doubtful that he can hold his entire Missouri strength, for there are men from Missouri who have been Bryan devotees for years, and the leash must be mighty strong to keep them away from the Bryan stampede.

"Outside of the Wilson delegates Bryan is apt to draw from nearly every state in the convention unless the unit rule is adhered to. The surprise to everyone is the amount of Bryan talk that keeps floating into Washington. It comes from all sections of the country. This does not mean that other candidates' delegates are deserting the man for whom they are instructed, but it shows that the Bryan sentiment is much stronger than that for any other single candidate."

INVESTIGATING FULTON ASYLUM

Grand Jury Examines Many Witnesses in Scandal Probe.

REASON FOR INQUIRY A SECRET

Resignations From Institution Have Been so Frequent That But Two Physicians Now Remain—Information Withheld.

Fulton, Mo., May 22.—Five persons connected with the Fulton state hospital for insane, including the superintendent, Dr. George Williams, were witnesses before the Callaway county grand jury during the afternoon. The first two were R. W. Thompson and Walter Pyles, who, Dr. Williams admitted to a press representative had been detailed by him to watch the actions of Dr. R. S. Magee, the first member of the medical staff of the institution to resign. The other two were Mrs. Annie Smith, supervisor of the women's ward of the hospital, and Mrs. Millie Maupin, an attendant in one of the wards.

The examination before the grand jury is being conducted by J. R. Baker, presecuting attorney of Callaway county, who has declared his intention of making a thorough investigation of the scandal, which is supposed to exist in the institution.

To be "Cleaned Out."

In an interview Superintendent Williams said:

"I intend to have the institution cleaned out if it is possible."

He would not indicate, however, what there is that should be cleaned out. Asked the direct question: "Did not the resignation of Dr. Magee come suddenly after an interview with you, in which you confronted him with evidence secured for you by Thompson and Pyles?" Dr. Williams answered affirmatively. To the question, "Did you prefer charges against him to the board of managers?" he said "No." He told the board what had happened and put the whole matter up to them, he said.

Dr. Williams was even more reticent about the resignation of Dr. Wiseman. He would not answer the question whether charges had been preferred against Wiseman, saying that R. M. White of Mexico, president of the board of managers, would have to give out information on the subject.

Wiseman Consults Governor.

Dr. Wiseman spent Friday in Jefferson City in conference with Gov. Hadley, and Saturday in Macon with Dr. E. B. Clements, a member of the board of managers of the hospital. He returned to Fulton Sunday morning and left Monday for Maywood, Lewis county, his former home.

Resignations have been frequent within the last eight weeks among minor employes of the hospital. Besides William Hicks, the supervisor of the men's wards, who quit May 9, three of the boiler room force and several attendants have valuntarily given up their jobs. The only physicians at the hospital now are the superintendent and Dr. D. E. Singleton, the latter a member of the medical staff. Singleton's name has not been mentioned in the gossip concerning the institution.

MADE BIG DEAL ON "PRESTIGE"

STEEL SUIT SHOWS POWER OF MORGAN'S NAME.

Witness Also Shows How Members of Pool "Double Crossed" Each Other.

New York, May 21.—That J. P. Morgan & Co., by the sheer weight of prestige, was able to go into the open market and persuade holders of American Bridge company stock to exchange their holdings for stock in the steel trust was the testimony of Percival Roberts, Jr., in the steel trust dissolution suit.

Roberts formerly was head of the American Bridge company and was a director and member of the executive committee of the trust from the time his company was absorbed until 1902, when he left the company. He went back in 1909, and now is a member of the finance committee and one of the individual defendants in the suit.

Roberts positively swore that there was no secret negotiations when the steel trust got the bridge company. Morgan & Co. "circularized" his stockholders, he said, and arranged to trade the stock and the Morgan firm's prestige was so great that its statement that the trade was a good one was accepted by nearly all of the stockholders.

How the big steel mills operated their pool agreements in keeping up prices was further developed.

Monthly meetings of the pool members were held, the witness said, at which the amount of work each mill might do was allotted. If a company did more than the allotment it was fined $4 a ton at first and later $2, and this was distributed among the companies who had failed to get orders enough.

He then explained that in many instances the pool members "double crossed each other."

ILLINOIS VETERANS IN CAMP

Forty-Sixth Annual Gathering Attended by Unusually Large Number of G. A. R. Men.

Peoria, Ill., May 22.—Old soldiers of the Civil war have come in surprisingly large numbers to attend the forty-sixth annual encampment of the Department of Illinois, Grand Army of the Republic. The Women's Relief Corps, the Sons of Veterans, the Daughters of Veterans and other allied organizations which hold their annual meetings at the same time are represented by so many delegates and friends that the city is full of guests.

Today the committee on credentials and the council of administration have been very busy. An open session of the encampment will be held tonight in the Shriners' temple, where the mayor will welcome the veterans and the allied societies will extend greetings to them. There will also be a campfire at the First Congregational church. Tomorrow will be, as usual, the big day of the encampment, the day of the grand parade. In the reviewing stand will be Commander-in-Chief H. M. Trimble, Department Commander C. C. Duffy, Governor Deneen, Adjutant General Dickson and other prominent officials.

AD MEN MIX WORK AND PLEASURE

Convention at Dallas, Texas Made Lively by Novel Methods of Entertainment.

Dallas, Tex., May 22.—The necessity for absolute truthfulness in advertising was the keynote of the days discussions in the eighth annual convention of the Associated Advertising clubs of America. The demand for high moral and ehtical character in advertising is one of the rapidly developing features of the meeting. There were a large number of addresses on the day's program, the busiest of the convention.

The "ad men" are playing as hard as they are working. Some of the Southern delegations have demonstrated novel methods of advertising at the entertainments. At a "battle royal" the Atlanta delegation plastered its huge streamer upon the back of one of the negro boxers participating in the event.

RAILROAD ISSUES FREAK RULE

Employes Must Wear No Red, Lest it be Mistaken for Stop Signal.

Chicago, May 22.—The fancy red waistcoat, red neckties and all other outer garments of scarlet hue have been forbidden to all employes of one of the Western railroads while they are on duty. The announcement was made to the employes at the close of their days' work by order of the officials of the company.

The order, which was one of several issued to the employes for the betterment of the service, read:

"No employes shall wear red colored outer garments, as they may be mistaken for stop signals."

Sued Kansas Druggist.

Atchison, Kan., May 22.—Alleging that they gave her an overdose of poison in a prescription which they filled for her, Mrs. Luella Daniels of Lawrence, Kan., filed two damage suits in the district court here, asking for a total of $31,000 from Harry and Will Dick, druggists of Lawrence. Harry Dick is president of the Kansas Pharmaceutical Association, which is meeting here this week.

REBELS DRIVEN FROM BORDER

Two Hundred Mexican Troops Routed by 38 Americans.

TRIED TO CROSS BOUNDARY LINE

Wagon Road Held and Serious Complications Prevented by Aggressive Stand of Two Texas Rangers.

Fabens, Tex., May 22.—Troop B fourth cavalry, turned a band of 200 rebel soldiers back across a wagon road that marks the boundary between the United States and Mexico.

The cool judgment of an American army lieutenant and the aggressive stand of two Texas rangers in the face of 200 Mexican rebels advancing on the American boundary line prevented serious complications.

"Death to them," the Mexicans cried, and a shot rang out as they spurred their horses, drew their carbines and charged forward to a wagon road where Lieut. C. A. Dougherty and 35 men of troop B had stationed themselves, their rifles pointed toward Mexico.

Sarcastic Texas Rangers.

C. E. Webster and Charles Moore of the Texas rangers, who have been accompanying the American troops on their patrol, dashed forward.

"If you dare to come across this wagon road we'll arrest your whole army," shouted Webster. Lieut. Dougherty believing he perhaps had miscalculated the boundary line, gave the Mexicans the benefit of the doubt and drew his men back to few yards under cover of sage and mesquite, ordering them under no circumstances to fire until so commanded.

"This wagon road is the line," Webster continued to call in Spanish to advancing rebels who formed into a fighting line. He demanded that they send out their chiefs for parley.

Rebels Apologized.

Col. Jose Cordoba and Col. Charles Bustamanta, in command of the rebels who were moving on Guadalupe, dismounted and across the sandy road the Mexicans declared they mistook the rangers for two men they had been searching for. Lieut. Dougherty came forward and defined what he believed to be the American line.

The rebel leaders turned their troop away and headed eastward toward Guadalupe.

The companies of the eighteenth infantry picketed the border, reenforcing the cavalrymen. Troop B of the fourth cavalry was added to the patrolling forces.

SHERIFF CAPTURED "WILD MAN"

Oklahoma Terror Turns Out to be Business Man, Suffering From Sleeping Sickness.

Oklahoma City, May 22.—H. J. Weisburch, a highly educated German and formerly a successful business man of this city, was sent to an asylum for the insane, a victim of sleeping sickness contracted in South Africa. He returned several months ago, but never was able to shake off the ailment.

After his return to Oklahoma City, Weisburch resumed business as a real estate dealer, but in a short time wandered away into the country. He terrorized farmers' wives and children for several weeks and was known as a wild man. A deputy sheriff captured him and he has just been identified. The officer put him into a motor car and Weisburch started the machine before the officer got in, running it two miles on a country road and stopping only when the engine went dead.

PARIS BONDS WENT IN A HURRY

Forty-One Million Dollar Issue Was Over-Subscribed 80 Times.

Paris, May 22.—The issue of City of Paris bonds to the total of $41,000,000 for the extension of the municipal gas system has been over-subscribed 80 times. This means that the French people have subscribed to the amount $3,280,000,000 and have actually paid in cash in one day $115,000,000, as each subscriber had to deposit $2 for each bond subscribed for. The issue was over-subscribed in Paris alone 70 times. Throughout the day long lines of people formed at the banks and other subscription offices.

THINKS ELECTRIC CHAIR CRUDE

Witness at Richeson Electrocution Suggests Changes in Method of Operation.

Cambridge, Mass., May 22.—Dr. George B. McGrath, medical examiner of Suffolk county, who was one of the witnesses at the Richeson electrocision will recommend several changes in the manner of putting murderers to death. He believes death should be brought on more quickly and without some of the unpleasant features connected with the present method. This could be accomplished, he says, by placing the electrodes over the heart and on the back of the neck instead of on top of the head and on the left leg. He expects that eventually a chair will be devised in which the prisoner will bring about his own death, the functions of his body automatically throwing on the current.

VALUE OF FORESTS PROVED

In Addition to Conserving Rainfall, They Are of Other Aids to Agriculture.

While the rainfall of any region is dependent on dynamic influences in the atmosphere, and can be affected only in a very slight degree, if at all, by the extent of that region covered by forests, it has certainly been shown that woods and forests conserve rainfall. The briefest consideration indicates the likelihood that this must be so, because vegetation and the ground covered with vegetation absorb water and allow it to percolate slowly to the lower levels, whereas on bare ground the rainwater runs quickly away to sea. But trees serve another purpose in aid of agriculture; because, as some recent experiments show, they act as windbreaks and shelters to growing crops. The distance to which the protective influence of trees extends is estimated at twenty times their height, though complete protection, such as might be afforded to growing wheat in a gale, extends only to a distance eight times the height of the trees. Partial protection is about twelve to fourteen times the height. They also check evaporation of rainfall, their influence extending five times their height to windward and eighteen times to leeward, and preserve as much as 70 per cent. of moisture ordinarily lost. Finally, their influence heats both air and soil, increasing the diurnal range of temperature by as much as nine degrees Fahrenheit.

GIVE REALITY TO THE CHILD

Writers of the Nineteenth Century Responsible for Valuable Addition to Literature.

Children were only found yesterday. Before the nineteenth century the child mind and the child heart were not supposed to have enough in them to interest the majestic adult. It is true that you find a delightful baby in Homer; that in Vergil there is the prettiest glimpse of a little girl, and up and down in the classics you may meet half a dozen other pleasant shadows of children. But they are only shadows, only at the most charming pictures. They give you as much as if they were painting or sculpture—for in children's bodies art has always had interest enough—only what a child looks like, the pretty weakness, the instinct for play, the native gesture and movement. Not till the "return to nature," not till the spirit of romance moved on the waters at the end of the eighteenth century, do you find poets beginning to tell of the thought and faith in a child's mind, the mysteries of the child's heart, the fancies that are dreams and the fancies that are visions. You may think that they have gone too far, that they read into childhood the laborious philosophizing and sometimes the labored sentimentality of the adult. But no one who loves children will deny that the best of the children in nineteenth century books have a far richer reality, a far fuller life than any that were born in earlier words. And some of the best are in Dickens.

About the Camel.

In a school in the South of Ireland a schoolboy of tender years is said to have produced the following essay on the camel:

"The cannimal is a sheep of the desert. It is called a backteria because it has a hump on its back. The cannimal is very patient, and will lie down and die without a groan, but when it is angry it gets its back up, which is called taking the hump. The shepherds of cannimals is called Arabs. When they live in towns they are called street Arabs. When the cannimal goes on a journey it drinks as much as it can to last for many days. Such animals are called accquiducks. Those that cannot carry enough are called inebriates."

United Through Literature.

More than one literary man owes a happy marriage to his books. Long before she first met her future husband had Elizabeth Barrett felt herself drawn toward the author of "Bells and Pomegranates," of which she makes the hero of "Lady Geraldine's Courtship" say: "Some Pomegranate of Browning's, which, if cut deep down the middle, shows the heart within blood-tinctured of a veined humanity." Nor was Browning insensible to the charm of the lady's work, so that the inevitable, though delayed, meeting resulted in a love which, overcoming all obstacles, resulted in the happiest of unions.

History as She's Told.

When Jean Leon Gerome's painting of the dead Caesar was on exhibition in the Corcoran gallery a Chicago visitor heard this conversation between a woman and her ten-year-old son, who were looking at the stricken Caesar lying at the foot of Pompey's statue while the conspirators were disappearing in the distance.

"Mamma," said the boy, "what is the matter with the man?"

"When you get older," answered the mother, "you will read all about it in history. The man is Julius Caesar. He has just been shot by Mark Anthony."

Its Moral.

"The thermometer is much like men in one respect."

"What is that?"

"When it once begins to take a drop, it falls by degrees."
